

Attentive and Discerning

"I will give them a heart to know me, that I am the Lord. They will be my people, and I will be their God, and they will return to me with all their heart." Jeremiah 24:7

We need to be attentive to the big and the small things, to the responses of other people, to the stirrings in our hearts, and to the preoccupations that thread their way through our lives. Being attentive takes practice; it is much easier to rush from one thing to the next, taking little time to notice anything. Once we develop the habit of being attentive, we can begin to discern what is good for us and what is not; and what God calls us to be, and to do.

Quote – how to we Our school helps us celebrate and acknowledge our achievements”

As a student I know my teachers really care about me because they provide additional intervention sessions for all subjects’ after school to support me to make progress in that subject which improves my confidence and wellbeing. If I can’t attend the intervention sessions then I am offered online tuition in some subjects. If I have an issue with the homework or what’s been covered in the lesson or I require information about an event or trip coming up all staff are accessible through MS Teams. We have a year group page as well which always has important information and helpful resources from our Head of year

As a student at St Joseph I have the opportunity to earn house points for anything connected with school. In assemblies each week we get an update on how our tutor group are doing and House prizes get awarded each half term. At the end of term, we have a reward assembly where lots of awards and certificates are handed out, my parents receive a report with the number of ClassCharts points I have received too. We also have half-termly reward hours. What I like about this is that house points are for all students and all abilities.

I am also offered online tuition.
